Winter weather has set in and plenty of consumers will be looking for a cup of something warm to keep them company during those frosty nights. In this feature, we will look at how retailers can capitalise on the opportunity that is brought on by the winter period for the hot beverages category. We would welcome comments on the following:

- How would you assess the performance of hot beverages in Scottish c-stores at the moment? Where are the areas for growth here and what is driving this growth? What are the key trends that retailers should be aware of for 2023?
- How has the current cost-of-living crisis affected the hot beverage category? How have you altered your range to fit with more cost conscious consumers?
- What pack sizes/formats are performing well in convenience at the moment? How have you altered your range to reflect contemporary trends? Are there any pieces of innovation that retailers should look out for?
- How can retailers capitalise on to-go offers here? What solutions are available for retailers that are looking to introduce an on-the-go hot beverage options in their stores?
- Do you have any NPD or campaigns you would like to shout about?
